Over a million Canadians visit Cuba every year, as the nationality that vacations there more than any other. Yet many Canadians' perceptions of what is Cuba is linked to stereotypes related to the commercial tourist industry. CineCuba strives to open the window to Canadians to see the real Cuba. ICAIC (Cuban film commission) was the first ministry established post revolution, and when one sees Cuban film, a long standing commitment to arts and culture is evident.... CineCuba is committed to helping Canadians understand just why they are drawn to this idyllic and uncommonly friendly but industrious and enigmatic paradise.
